

Where We Left Off

Site B is rubble.

You burned a wounded drider and two giant spiders in the chimney shaft and pulled a half-burnt scroll from the fire:

"Close the surface mouths. The Vhaeraun is opening." — Lolthite handwriting.

The cleft itself was sealed by drow magic.

Two drow factions are at war below your feet — Lolth's slamming doors shut, Vhaeraun's prying them open.

What Now?

- Four hours north along the granite to Site C — the last cleft still open.
- Watch for tracks. Someone else may be moving today.